Monthly Commentary

The wobble experienced by markets in May was greeted with the balm that has become so familiar during this Bull Market: the soothing words of Central Bankers. This had the “new normal” effect of turning bad economic data into good news for investors. Equities thus resumed their upwards momentum in June, even as safe haven assets – such as gold – also saw decent gains.

At the mid-point of the year, it is worth noting just how strong equity returns have been. All major equity indices are in positive territory, with European and US markets posting double-digit gains. Even the UK, where Brexit has proven such a headwind to sentiment, experienced good returns. Investors who have tried to “time” the end to the Bull Market have again been caught out.

During June, the NAV of the share class increased by 3% in Euro terms, marginally ahead of the MSCI Europe Small Cap benchmark index. During the last 6 months, the NAV has risen by over 21%, an outperformance of more than 7%.

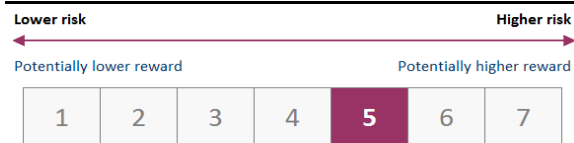

The strongest contributions during the month came from Belimo, the actuator manufacturer, which moved into the STOXX Europe 600 Index. Sartorius Stedim, the developer of equipment used in the manufacture of biologic drugs, continued to benefit from very good Q1 growth numbers. CompuGroup, the German provider of software for the medical sector, rose after it received a major order for its hospital business in Austria.

The weakest contributions came from Chr Hansen, the supplier of bioscience based natural ingredients to the food, health and animal feed industries, which suffered due to weak Chinese growth. Rightmove, the online real estate portal, declined after a broker downgrade on valuation grounds. Cineworld, the leading cinema operator in the UK and US, suffered from a weak film season in the US, which we believe will recover in H2 2019.

Incredibly, two-year sovereign debt for every single country in the Eurozone now trades on negative yields. The probable appointment of Christine Lagarde as President of the ECB, who is seen as even more dovish than the incumbent Mario Draghi, is expected to lead to a continuation of loose monetary policy in Europe. Recent history suggests that this should support equity markets.

Set against this is the likelihood that the narrative of the second half of 2019 may mirror that of the first: politics and the trade war could dominate the headlines once again. With this in mind, we continue to believe that the environment remains supportive of owning “Quality” companies. Such businesses are in control of their own destiny and have the resilience and strength to weather periods of market turbulence, which any long-term investor should expect to experience from time to time.

Risk and Reward Profile

These numbers rate how the Fund may perform and the risk of losing some or all of your investment. In general the potential for higher returns also implies a higher level of risk. However, the lowest category (1) does not mean a risk free investment.

This risk rating is based on historical data which may not be a reliable indication of the future risks and rewards of the fund. The risk rating of the fund may change over time.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. All investments are subject to risk and the value of shares and the income from them can fall as well as rise due to stock market and currency movements. You may not get back as much as you originally invested.

For further information please see the Risk and Reward section of the Key Investor Information Document (KIID).
