Monthly Commentary

Easing political tensions provided support to equity markets in October. A consequence of this was that SmallCap had one of its strongest months so far this year relative to European LargeCap, outperforming by some 2%. With two months to go until the end of the year, SmallCap is now on track to outperform LargeCap in 2019. As President Trump celebrated a "Phase One Trade Deal" with China, the UK stepped back from the apparent precipice of a "no deal" Brexit. Meanwhile, Central Banks reiterated their dovish stances as Mario Draghi, the architect of Europe's "whatever it takes" stimulus strategy, stepped aside for Christine Lagarde.

During October, the NAV of the share class increased by 2.6% in Euro terms, an outperformance of 0.2% versus the MSCI Europe Small Cap benchmark index.

The strongest contribution during the month came from Rightmove, the UK's leading online real estate portal, which gained as fears of a "no deal" Brexit receded. Belimo, the actuator manufacturer, sustained its upward momentum due to a positive broker report. Marshalls, the hard landscaping manufacturer in the UK, also surged on more positive Brexit related news.

The weakest contribution came from VZ Holding, the Swiss wealth manager, which experienced profit taking after a strong third quarter. AAK, the producer of high-value added vegetable oils and fats, declined on profit taking after a slightly weaker than expected set of results. IMA, the producer of packaging machines for the food and pharmaceutical industries, weakened due to an increase of short positions on the stock.

It is perhaps a little confusing that European equities have climbed close to a two-year high in recent weeks when signs that the global economy is slowing are so prevalent. While much of this is due to improved political developments, a positive earnings season has also reinvigorated investor appetite for risk assets.

Yet the clouds hovering over the investment landscape have not evaporated completely. Geopolitical risks remain and growth is slowing across the world. While the monetary backdrop remains supportive, Central Banks have not left much in the toolkit. In our opinion, we remain in a period in which investors will continue to favour companies with strong balances sheets and healthy cash flows.

Risk and Reward Profile

These numbers rate how the Fund may perform and the risk of losing some or all of your investment. In general the potential for higher returns also implies a higher level of risk. However, the lowest category (1) does not mean a risk free investment.

This risk rating is based on historical data which may not be a reliable indication of the future risks and rewards of the fund. The risk rating of the fund may change over time.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. All investments are subject to risk and the value of shares and the income from them can fall as well as rise due to stock market and currency movements. You may not get back as much as you originally invested.

For further information please see the Risk and Reward section of the Key Investor Information Document (KIID).
