Monthly Commentary

A summer lull fell upon equity markets in July. Amid typically thin trading volumes for this time of year, European SmallCap posted modest declines. This was no bad thing after such a strong opening half to the year. The month was not without its headlines, however. In the US, the Federal Reserve lowered interest rates for the first time in eleven years, while the European Central Bank indicated that further easing measures remained in the monetary pipeline. Thus far, the reporting season indicates a weakening in quarterly earnings and sales growth, although many companies have continued to beat market expectations. This is a true stock picker's market.

During July, the NAV of the share class increased by 0.9% in Sterling terms, 0.6% behind the MSCI Europe Small Cap benchmark index.

The strongest contribution during the month came from AAK, the producer of high-value added vegetable oils and fats, which reported a good set of results following the launch of a new plant-based ingredients portfolio. CTS Eventim, the provider of ticketing services in Europe, announced a strategic partnership with the leading ticketing company in France. MTU Aero Engines, the German aircraft engine manufacturer, outperformed following an acceleration in the production of the Geared Turbo Fan engine.

The weakest contribution came from First Derivatives, the database technology and consulting services provider, which retreated following a placing of some of the CEO & Founder's shares after he was diagnosed with cancer. Very sadly, later in the month, it was announced that he had passed away. Our thoughts are with his family, friends and colleagues. Grenke, the specialist lease finance business for European SMEs, cited deteriorating credit performance and higher provisioning in its Q2 results. St James's Place, the UK wealth manager, weakened following a modest decline in AUM growth alongside rising investment costs.

A re-escalation of the US/China trade war should come as little surprise to observers of this dispute. The rhetoric between the two countries ebbs and flows between economic resolution and tariff-related conflict. A sceptical analysis suggests that this will be a consistent feature of the investment backdrop in the run-up to 3 November 2020, the date of the next US presidential election. A well-timed "breakthrough" in negotiations could boost the economy – and the prospects of the White House incumbent.

In the meantime, it would be little surprise if investors retained a degree of caution during the remainder of the summer. Certainly, it would be unwise to extrapolate the returns of the last six months. Brexit will dominate headlines over the coming months which may add to uncertainty. Nevertheless, with monetary policy supportive and economic data suggesting a stable backdrop, there remains life in this Bull Market yet. In such an environment, companies that perform well will be rewarded and those that disappoint punished. This is as it should and always will be. We continue to focus on identifying high quality companies that have the potential to generate strong absolute and relative performance for our clients over the long-term.

Risk and Reward Profile

These numbers rate how the Fund may perform and the risk of losing some or all of your investment. In general the potential for higher returns also implies a higher level of risk. However, the lowest category (1) does not mean a risk free investment.

This risk rating is based on historical data which may not be a reliable indication of the future risks and rewards of the fund. The risk rating of the fund may change over time.

Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future results. All investments are subject to risk and the value of shares and the income from them can fall as well as rise due to stock market and currency movements. You may not get back as much as you originally invested.

For further information please see the Risk and Reward section of the Key Investor Information Document (KIID).
